

DID YOU KNOW?

Komodo dragons "smell" with their tongues! They flick their tongues to collect tiny scent particles from the air, helping them track food from miles away.